

APPLICATIONS NOW BEING ACCEPTED

Apply by March 5, 2021

The IUSRS, in its 7th year, is an eight-week intensive research training program hosted by the McMaster Indigenous Research Institute.

Indigenous undergraduate students from universities across Canada, who are interested in research and curious about graduate school are eligible to participate.

Participants take part in online workshops and Indigenous Knowledge programming while contributing as research scholars under the supervision of a McMaster faculty member.

For more info, visit: miri.mcmaster.ca/iusrs/

Indigenous
Research Institute
miri.mcmaster.ca

The IUSRS is made possible by contributions from the Office of the Vice-President Research, the FEAST Centre for STBBI research and all 6 McMaster faculties